EDUCATION

- 2005-2010 Ph.D. ‘summa cum laude’ in Economic and Social History, Department of History, Ionian University. Supervisor: Professor Gelina Harlaftis.
Title of Doctoral Thesis: Hermoupolis (Island of Syros): the Shipbuilding Centre of the Sailing Merchant Marine, 1830-1880, Corfu, 2010. The thesis explores the shipbuilding industry of the most important commercial and maritime centre of the Aegean in the 19th century. It highlights economic, institutional, technical and social aspects of the shipbuilding activity and its protagonists, and places them in historical context. The thesis employs interdisciplinary theoretical tools from economic geography, economic sociology and institutional economics and adopts new interpretive models and views with relation to Modern Greek historiography on the subject.
- 2001-2002 MA in Maritime Archaeology and History, University of Bristol. Supervisor: Professor A. J. Parker.
Dissertation title: The shipping and shipbuilding tradition in the island of Skopelos (19th-20th centuries), Bristol 2002 (unpublished MA dissertation). This study is an overview of the evolution of shipping and shipbuilding activity on the island of Skopelos in the past two centuries. Special attention is given to the shipbuilding traditions and techniques that had survived and were used by shipbuilders of the 20th century, documented through the recording of oral testimonies of retired craftsmen interviewed on the island.
- 1992-1997 First class honours BA Degree in Ancient History, Department of Ancient History, University of Bologna. Dissertation on Unedited collection of ancient Greek coins of the National Archeological Museum of Parma: Central Greece-Attica, Bologna, 1997. Supervisor: Professor Emmanuela Ercolani-Cocchi.
The dissertation comprises the compilation of a catalogue, in chronological order, of the aforementioned numismatic collection from the regions of Central

Greece and Attica, and a study of monetary issues involved within the historical, political and economic, context from the late Archaic to the Roman period.

RESEARCH PROJECTS

- 2017-2021 Principal Investigator of the project ‘Seafaring Lives in Transition. Mediterranean Maritime Labour and Shipping during Globalization, 1850s-1920s’, financed by the European Research Council (ERC) Starting Grant 2016.
- 2013-2015 Post-doctoral researcher in the project “ELISTOKAINO”: the History of Innovation in Greece, 19th-20th centuries, Institute for Mediterranean Studies Foundation of Research and Technology – Hellas (IMS/FORTH), Crete.
- 2011-2015 Post-doctoral researcher in the project “Thalis”: The Black Sea and its port-cities, 1774-1914. Development, convergence and linkages with the global economy, collaboration of the Ionian University (project leader) with the University of Thessaly, University of Crete, Hellenic Research Foundation and University of the Aegean, financed by the Greek Ministry of Education and European Union.
